Types of Applications

Early Decision

Merrimack College offers an Early Decision program for freshman applicants who consider Merrimack their first choice college. The deadline for submitting an application under Early Decision is November 15 of their senior year. Early Decision candidates will receive formal notification of their admission decision in December. Decisions include admission, deferral to rolling decision and denial of admission. Students who are denied admission at Early Decision may not reapply for any other deadlines. Students applying under early decision should be aware that this is a binding program and if offered admission the student must enroll at Merrimack College.

Early Action

Early Action is intended for students who are completing their senior year in high school and desire to have an admissions decision in December for EA 1 and February for EA 2. Under the Early Action program, your application materials, including your Common Application must be received on or before November 15 for EA 1 and January 15 for EA 2. Decisions include admission, deferral to a rolling decision process and denial of admission. Students who are denied admission at either of our Early Action deadlines may not reapply for any other deadline. This is a non-binding program.

Rolling Admission

Merrimack offers a rolling admission process for freshman and transfer applicants. The application deadlines are listed in the “Application Deadlines” section. Applicants will learn of their admission decision on a rolling basis once Merrimack has received all of the required documents. Decisions include admission, waitlist or denial of admission.

Application Procedures

Merrimack College offers two options for applying: the Common Application, and the Merrimack Application. The application and instructions necessary to submit the application are currently available at www.merrimack.edu/admission/undergraduate/application-process.php. There are a number of supporting credentials that are required for an application to be completed. Almost all of these items are completed electronically. Merrimack College does not have an application fee.

In addition to the application, in order for a freshman application to be considered “complete” you must complete the following three items:

For Nursing applicants, in order for a freshman application to be considered “complete you must complete the following five items:

- Official secondary school transcripts
- Secondary School Report (SSR)
- Letter of recommendation from school counselor
- Letter of recommendation from a teacher (preferably a science or math teacher)
- Official SAT or ACT test scores*

Due to challenges associated with COVID-19, standardized tests scores will not be required for students applying for nursing for the fall of 2022.*

Merrimack College is test optional (excluding nursing majors). Standardized test scores (such as the SAT or ACT) are not required for admission.

Merrimack College notifies students about the status of the application via email. Therefore, it is important to provide us with an email address which will be active throughout the entire application process.

Application Review

Admission to Merrimack College is competitive and selective. We seek to enroll students who are academically prepared and demonstrate the background, interest and willingness to contribute to advancing the Merrimack experience. When considering applicants for freshman admission, the admission committee considers whether the applicant’s secondary school transcript reflects the preparation and performance for the academic program for which they have applied.

Merrimack’s Augustinian heritage is reflected in our supportive community and we seek to enroll students who have positively contributed to their school and larger community.

Merrimack College admits students of any race, creed, color, handicap or disability, and national or ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, gender, handicap or disability, age, sexual orientation, national ancestry or ethnic origin or any other lawfully protected categories in administration of its educational policies, admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.

Honors Program

The Merrimack Honors Program strives to provide a rigorous and coherent experience for its students. Every aspect of Merrimack Honors—academic, extra-curricular, and social—is organized around what we call the Four Pillars of a Merrimack Honors Education: Community, Service, Research, and Leadership.

- Community- Learning is best and most lasting when it is done in the company of friends. Merrimack Honors seeks students who strive to excel, and who challenge, support, and celebrate one another in their efforts to do so.
- Service- What we learn finds its greatest value in the ways it benefits others. In a college nationally recognized for service, the students in Merrimack Honors participate in and often take the lead in service projects that enrich the classroom, the campus, and the larger community.
- Research- To effect meaningful change in today's world requires a knowledge that is both deep (disciplinary expertise) and aware of connections to other fields (interdisciplinary competence). The Merrimack Honors curriculum is designed so that our students practice and master essential research skills in their chosen field, while always keeping in mind the larger picture—in all its scientific, social, and human complexity.
- Leadership- Merrimack Honors imparts the skills needed for true leadership. Through opportunities ranging from topics in classroom discussions (e.g., why is Socrates a charismatic leader even though he claims to know nothing?), to the Honors Student Council (the student governing body that has a voice in every aspect of the Program), to our emphasis on educating the whole person (with all the possibilities and limitations of being human that this implies), we strive to prepare students for when they will no longer be students, in whatever their chosen field and way of life.

There is no formal application process; all applications for admission are automatically considered. Competitive students for the Honors program are expected to have completed the most rigorous program of studies in their high school careers. Approximately the top 10% of the entering freshman class will be included in this program.

Dean's Forum

Developed by Dr. Peter Ellard, Dean of Student Success and Academic Support, Dean's Forum provides high-achieving, intellectually-curious students the ability to connect with the College's deans, vice provosts, and the provost in monthly meetings designed to create, promote, and foster intellectual exchange.

These monthly meetings, known as "The Dean's Lunch Group" involve deep and meaningful conversations that often take place around a shared meal or experience. Topics may include:

- The role of education in life
- Career and professional development
- Service to the greater good
- Living a life with meaning

Dean's Forum takes place outside the regular course schedule. It is not a requirement, but provides an invaluable opportunity for students to engage with an additional mentor at Merrimack College and with peers seeking a more interactive academic experience. Therefore, admitted students may elect to opt-out of this program and still enroll at Merrimack.

There is no formal application process; all applications for admission are automatically considered.

Promise Program

The Promise Program at Merrimack is designed to optimize a student's potential for academic and personal success in the transition to Merrimack, through the first year and on the path to graduation.

Promise offers students the opportunity to build the skills and network needed for success in freshman year while also completing coursework in their desired major and in the Core Curriculum in Liberal Studies - Merrimack's general education program. This will occur through personalized academic programming and guidance received in addition to what is provided in their academic majors. For example, first year courses will be carefully selected for students enrolled in the Promise Program to enhance their individual opportunity for success. Promise students will take these courses with both fellow Promise students and those in their area of study. Additional features of the Promise Program include:

- Frequent one-on-one academic counseling
- Mentoring and tutoring from upper-class student leaders
- Individualized referrals to other campus resources
- A specialized twice-a-week First Year Experience course that provides an enhanced academic skill development component (including time management and college-level study skills)

After the first year, students will be invited to continue to participate in Promise through ongoing academic counseling and programming for all four years.

There is no formal application process; all applications for admission are automatically considered.

Compass Program

The Compass Program at Merrimack College seeks goal-directed, hard-working students who, for whatever reason, find themselves less than fully prepared for college. Our goal is nothing less than to provide such students with a second chance. The Compass Program is successful in taking students who have promise – including those who may not know that they do – and arming them with the skills and knowledge they need to change their lot in life. We take this mission seriously. We do this by focusing not simply on providing academic support, but on fostering self-transformation. Through our guidance, students learn that when they are willing to persevere, seek direction and work hard, they will become more responsible, goal-directed and successful students and individuals. As long as students are willing to work hard and take direction, we keep teaching them until they learn. And they do.

There is no formal application process; all applications for admission are automatically considered. Approximately the bottom 10% of the entering freshman class will be included in this program.

Merrimack College believes the primary responsibility for a student's education belongs to the individual and his or her parent(s). However, the College recognizes that meeting the cost of a private education is a financial challenge for many students and families. Therefore, we have established a substantial program for financial aid designed to provide assistance to deserving students who desire to study at Merrimack.

Merrimack College reserves the right to make any changes to your financial aid award should your eligibility or cost of attendance change at any point during the academic year.

In order to receive financial aid from federal, state, institutional or any private funding which require satisfactory academic progress, a student must comply with the standards listed in the College Catalog, Student Handbook, or other financial aid publications. Types of Aid: Grants

Grants are gift aid which do not have to be repaid.

Types of Aid: Scholarships

Athletic Scholarship: Recipients are selected by the Merrimack Department of Athletics. All questions regarding this type of aid should be directed to the Coach and the Assistant Athletic Director of Compliance.

Endowed/Restricted Scholarships: A number of individuals, foundations and corporations have donated money to establish nearly 250 endowed/restricted scholarships to Merrimack College. These scholarships vary in character and purpose. Some support study in a particular field, others provide assistance to students from designated geographic areas. Endowed/Restricted scholarships are based on merit, leadership capability and financial need. Endowed/Restricted scholarships will be made during the academic year by the Office of Financial Aid. Scholarships designated for entering students do not require a separate application. If you are selected as a recipient, you will be notified of the award name and to whom a letter of thanks must be addressed. Your acceptance of these funds implies permission for the College to publicize the award.

Family Scholarship: If two children are enrolled at Merrimack College in a full-time, day degree program, each child receives a 10% reduction in tuition. Three children receive 13 1/3% and four children receive 15% (reduction is taken after institutional aid is applied).

Federal Pell Grant: Pell Grants are awarded to students who have filed the FAFSA and whose Expected Family Contribution falls within federal guidelines.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant: Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants are awarded on a very limited basis first to Pell Grant recipients with the lowest Expected Family Contribution (EFC), pending federal funding. We have a limited amount of SEOG funds, so not all Pell Grant recipients will receive SEOG funds. The priority deadline to be considered is February 15 for freshmen and April 1 for returning students, after which, funds will be awarded based on Pell Grant recipients and their corresponding unmet need.

Gilbert Grant: Gilbert Grants are one-year grants made available by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to eligible Massachusetts residents. Awards are determined annually pending state funding.

MASSGrant: Massachusetts provides educational grants to qualified students who have completed the FAFSA. Eligibility is based on residency, financial need according to the Expected Family Contribution (EFC) and enrollment status. The MASSGrant is not automatically renewed as students must file the FAFSA before May 1 to determine eligibility. If you have received state notification you may deduct the state scholarship from your bill only with the understanding that you are responsible for any balance due if the state subsequently adjusts or cancels your award.

Merit Scholarships: Scholarships are renewable for four years or eight semesters as long as the student maintains good academic standing as defined in the Merrimack College catalog. All undergraduate full-time applicants (freshman, transfer, international) are automatically considered for merit scholarships.

Merrimack Need-Based Grant: In order to be considered for need-based aid, a student must file the FAFSA and demonstrate financial need. The award amount in subsequent years will be determined by the demonstrated level of financial need.

RaiseMe MicroScholarships: Merrimack has partnered with RaiseMe, a micro-scholarship campaign, to offer freshmen and transfer students the opportunity to earn scholarships in recognition of their academic achievements and outstanding accomplishments. Students' earnings will be incorporated into Merrimack's scholarship awards. Learn more at raise.me/join/merrimack.

Tuition Exchange: Tuition-exchange scholarships are based on parental employment at another participating institution. For additional information, contact the tuition-exchange liaison at your institution.
